A Visit To A Fair

On the day of Mahashivratri, a fair was held in our town. It was held on the open ground behind the old Shiva temple. I visited the fair with my friends. There were many stalls selling flowers, bang.

Memory Science Training

According to scientists, memories are formed as a result of connections between neurons in the brain.

New connections (synapses) are formed each time a new activity is learned. The more a person participates in a particular activity, the stronger the synapses and associated memories tied to the activity become.

It is an instrument that is used to calculate or count by using sliding counters and a rod. It was indeed the world's first calculator. It was first used in Europe, China, and Russia.
